November 4th, 2026

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Brookline Community Center for the Arts (BCCA) Grand Re-Opening 3-Week Open House, November 8 - 29, 2026

Who: Brookline Community Center for the Arts (BCCA), https://www.BCCAonline.org
When: Sunday, November 8th to Sunday, November 29th, 2026
Where: 429 Harvard Street, Brookline, MA 02446
Why: Open house to re-launch the BCCA in Coolidge Corner.

We are very excited to invite you to the grand re-opening of the Brookline Community Center for the Arts (BCCA), at our newly renovated location at 429 Harvard Street, in the heart of Brookline! This marks 21 years since our prior arts facility at 14 Green Street, where we provided up to 170 classes/week and 500 events/year, by a faculty 350 acclaimed artists/producers/educators. This new BCCA is the 7th arts center that our 23-year-old non-profit has created, renovated, designed, and/or helped manage.

The center will feature a diverse selection of onsite and online classes, workshops, cultural events and gatherings, lectures and meetings, performances, gallery exhibitions, and rehearsals by acclaimed local artists, in dance, martial arts, fitness, wellness, music, and theatre, filmmaking and media, science, visual arts, silk screen printing, gemology and jewelry making, as well as private celebrations and functions, production services, video game nights for kids and families, and more. Repurposing the solid and rich construction of the former banks that occupied this property, the BCCA will cultivate a pollinator garden on the property's grounds and parking lot, and will offer mailboxes for artists, a media learning and productivity lab and recording studio, a commercial kitchen, 2,400 SF of sprung, floating, northern Maple dance floors, a 500 SF sprung matted martial arts, fitness, and wellness studio, a fully accessible 1st floor and a future accessibility to the basement level, a 250" projection screen, and advanced A/V systems.

Attend our 3-week BCCA grand reopening open house, November 8th through 29th, 2026, featuring free & discounted classes, workshops, cultural events, & tours for all ages and abilities — There's something for everyone! Stay tuned to our online schedule, as we add new offerings every day, building up to a culmination of a full schedule by the end of the open house! And drop by the center any time to get your Offering Pass at our Fall session discount through November 29th! Come rock with us!

The BCCA offers teaching and performing opportunities to and collaborates with artists/educators/producers of all backgrounds, and invites you to contact us with your proposals for the arts, education, culture, and community offerings you would like to teach, produce, and/or have us offer. With the aid of technology, we provide 5 generations of artists/educators of all backgrounds and abilities with gainful and impactful opportunities, and cultivate an extended network of artists and institutions, continually developing our non-profit software, the World Education Web (https://worldeducationweb.org/about), to allow for online/onsite/hybrid programming, advanced interactions and cross-pollination, organizational and individual artist offering management, direct and residual income, publicity, and monetization, and an organic, diverse, friendly, and highly accessible user interface.

Join the BCCA in creating and cultivating a home for the arts. Your participation and contribution will empower and help revitalize the arts, culture, and education landscape. Together, we can make a big impact while having fun, broadening our horizons and connections, staying healthy and energized, and living in harmony!

Contact: Dan Y. Marshall, Executive Artistic Director, BCCA / CCCA, (617) 642-1444, Dan.Yonah.Marshall@gmail.com